

Growing up playing the drums and bass guitar this talented Producer/DJ's powerful musical roots saw her arrive in Berlin in 2010 and find her way into the house and techno clubs of this magical city.

Originally coming from a beautiful yet troubled homeland of Beirut, Lebanon, the cultural experiences have without a doubt inspired and enriched her music always having deeper messages and meanings. She gained a plethora of valuable experiences at Boston's Berklee College of Music over the summers. She moved more towards electronic music, in particular music that makes you dance!

The last few years have certainly been busy for this Berlin resident. Gaining much exposure from her residency at the 'STAUB' parties she continues to grow as a DJ and artist, playing some shows with live vocals over her DJ sets & using live 909 drums as well leaning toward more of a hybrid style.

2017 ended with her debut at Parisian club Concrete & 2018 started with a debut show in Shanghai, China where the scene is currently growing rapidly leading to what will surely be a full tour in Asia later in the year.

2018 will also see her debut ALBUM release which tends to diverge from the typical club-focused EPs that we've already seen on her label. This is paired with a remix package featuring some of the artists who have most inspired and supported her music. She also has her first Berghain show of the year in February followed by some excellent club shows & festivals over the year (including Reaktor (Amsterdam) / 5001Festival (near Berlin)/ Larm (Budapest)).

We can surely expect more emotional and energetic productions as well musically varied and journey-like DJ sets that hold no genre limitations.
